

INVITATION

THE CULTURE OF LAWFULNESS:

INTERNATIONAL TRAINING WORKSHOP

ON UTILIZING THE E4J TRAINING MODULES IN CENTRAL EUROPEAN HIGHER EDUCATION

It is our pleasure to invite you to 'The Culture of Lawfulness' international online workshop, organized by the University of Pécs, Hungary, with the support of the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime (UNODC).

Date: November 4-6, 2020

The aim of the workshop is to introduce the new Europe for Justice (E4J) education materials and make a discussion about how best to integrate them into the various Universities' curricula.

The workshop focuses on five fields of the UNODC's mandate: Organized crime, Trafficking in persons and smuggling of migrants, Cybercrime, Counter-Terrorism.

The speakers will be lecturers from Law Schools of Central European universities.

Participation is open to any lecturer, researcher or PhD-student interested in the topics of the workshop. The audience will have the possibility to participate actively in roundtable debates.

The sessions will be presented by invited experts and will be followed by roundtable discussions. The aim of the discussions is to find common ground on implementing and developing the E4J teaching materials.

Language: English

Used online system: Microsoft Teams

Participation is free of charge. Participants will receive a certificate.

Registration: Please fill out the APPLICATION FORM until November 01.
